GOOD AND BAD IN PROHIBITION, JAMES M. BECK TELLS LONDON

Ex-Solicitor General Says U. S. Is More Efficient

CRIME RAMPANT

Smugglers Making $300,000,000 Each Year

(Reuter's Service)

London, June 8.—An impartial view of prohibition in America is given by Mr. J. M. Beck, the United States Solicitor-General, who is at present in London. He said that prohibition had undoubtedly lessened idleness, promoted efficiency, increased thrift and made men better husbands and fathers, while on the other hand, it had led to an appalling increase in crime and the use of narcotics and to a lessening of respect for authority and law owing to the widespread violations of the Act, but the best opinion was that, if a referendum were taken, the law would be sustained by an overwhelming majority, especially by liquor smugglers, who, he estimated, were making $300,000,000 a year.

Peking Announces New Finance Plan

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, June 8.—The Chinese Government recently called the attention of the Diplomatic Body to a declaration made in 1913 that all future financial negotiations should be conducted solely through the Ministry of Finance stating that agreements and foreign loans authenticated by the Ministry of Finance must be referred to the Waichiaopu for formal certification and then by it to the Legation concerned.

Agreements lacking this certification would not be recognised as valid. It appears that the Waichiaopu's reply to a recent inquiry indicates that this declaration is meant to include contracts providing for the supply of goods against payment on long terms, as the usual style of contract for railway material.

Shanghai Man Lost In London

Mr. J. H. Bonnington, formerly an employe of the Shanghai Tramway Company, disappeared in London on December 27 of last year shortly after his arrival there from Shanghai on the s.s. Andre Lebon, according to copies of London papers just reaching Shanghai.

Mr. Bonnington was only in Shanghai about four months before he was compelled to go to the hospital and at the end of the year was sent back to England. He put up at the Hotel Belgravia, Victoria, S. W. and was last seen when he walked out of the hotel on the day after Boxing Day. His description was given Scotland Yard but no trace has been found of him.

The only clue left the police, which they are still working on, was a telegram he received about a week prior to his disappearance. It read: "Transaction complete. £95. Senator." He left baggage at the hotel, including 12 blackwood Buddhas inlaid with silver, of much greater value than his hotel bill, and it is feared he has met with foul play. In Shanghai he lived at 12A Quinsan Gardens.

ADMIRAL KATO MAY HAVE TO FORM CABINET

Viscount Kiyoura Declines To Resume Political Activity

(Nippon Dempo Service)

Tokio, June 8.—In spite of earnest persuasion of Viscount Kiyoura to reappear on political stage, the retired veteran statesman is persistent in declining the post of prime minister now offered to him, saying that at every ministerial change, people would necessarily make much ado about a possible return of the Satsuma party to power, the sole reason which made him retire to his villa at Hayama in order to avoid public misgivings.

Now that Count Yamamoto has declined to assume the premiership, Admiral Kato, ex-minister of Navy, is expected to receive Imperial command to form a new cabinet in the course of the day or tomorrow at the latest

Tokio, June 8.—After a series of consultations the three Genro are now agreed to recommend Count Yamamoto, retired Admiral and once prime minister, as successor to Viscount Takahashi.

Viscount Kiyoura, minister of the Privy council and one of the Genro, paid a visit to Count Yamamoto at his residence at Hayama, near Tokio, this afternoon. The result of the interview is not known yet, but Viscount Kiyoura is expected to make another visit on Prince Saionji at Okitsu tomorrow with details of his interview with Count Yamamoto.

With regard to Viscount Kiyoura's visit to Count Yamamoto, ex-premier, at his residence at Hayama, apparently for the purpose of pursuading him to take up the chair as premier, it is generally thought unlikely that the latter will accept.

In that case, Admiral Baron Kato, hitherto Minister of Navy and one of Japan's chief delegates at the Washington Conference, becomes the most promising candidate.

(Reuter Pacific Service)

Tokio, June 7.—Marquis Matsukata and Viscount Kiyoura were received in audience by the Prince Regent this morning in connection with the political crisis.

Meanwhile, the press is estimating possible successors to Viscount Takahashi, among whom Count Yamamoto, Viscount Kiyoura, Baron Makino, Admiral Saito, Baron Goto and Admiral Baron Kato are mentioned as possible non-party candidates for the Premiership.

The Japanese press believes that the Washington Treaties will be ratified before Viscount Takahashi is replaced.

Diplomas Awarded To Graduating Class Of Ten By The American School

Herbert Waters Wins Rotary Club Scholarship Of $500—Principal Bartlett And Julean Arnold Speak

Twelve members of the senior class of the Shanghai American School were awarded their diplomas at the annual commencement exercises held yesterday in the Olympic Theater. The entire student body of the school and hundreds of friends and relatives were present for the exercises. Addresses were delivered by Principal W. W. Bartlett, and Mr. Julean Arnold, American commercial attache, who took the place of Dr. Kenneth Latourette. The latter was prevented from attending at the last moment because of illness.

Mr. Arnold took a friendly, informal tone in his address, complimenting the school highly on its achievements during the ten years of its existence and declaring that the United States government should do something to help carry the burden of education for American children here. He particularly emphasised how valuable to China students educated in the American school here could make themselves and expressed the hope that at least some members of the graduating class would return here following the completion of their studies at home to aid the people of China.

AWARD SCHOLARSHIP

The Rotary Club scholarship of $500 was awarded to Herbert O. Waters, who, in the opinion of the judges, had done most to aid his school during his career there. The award was based on a record of the achievements of the members of the graduating class during their terms at the school. Young Waters will continue his education at Dennison College, Ohio, and the scholarship will be paid him in four yearly installments to aid him during his studies there.

In his address, Principal Bartlett called attention to the fact that the commencement exercises marked the tenth anniversary of the founding of the Shanghai American School. Briefly, he traced the history of the school since its organisation by a group of men from the Northern and Southern Baptist Missions, the Northern and Southern Presbyterian Missions, the Southern Methodist Mission and the Y.M.C.A.

"The school," he said, "was founded on the theory that an American child should have an American education if he is to be equipped for the highest usefulness as an American citizen, that it is his birthright to be educated in an American School by American teachers, amid American ideals and traditions."

BUSINESS MEN AID

Principal Bartlett then told how the co-operation of American business men in Shanghai had been enlisted in behalf of the school, and of the campaign for funds with which to erect a permanent home had been carried on both in America and here.

"We now possess," he said, "one hundred and ten mow of land in one of the best sections of the city, all titles have been transferred, all graves have been removed, the last payment has been made, the French authorities have almost completed the new road through the land, the contractor is progressing rapidly with the work on the primary building under a contract which requires its completion by July 22, and school for the first four grades will open on the new property at 9 a.m. Tuesday, September 12.

"When shall we be able to move the entire school to the new property? I cannot tell you. Our aim and hope is to begin school in the new quarters a year from next September. We are bending our energies toward this end, Mr. Boynton is giving his entire time to this phase of the work, there seems to be a reasonable hope that we shall succeed, but building in China is too uncertain to make promises.

296 ENROLLED

"Turning now to the actual school: At present we have a staff of twenty-six and an enrollment of 296, of whom 117 are in the High School. Last Fall the freshman class was so large that we were obliged to divide it into two sections, next fall it will be necessary also to divide the sophomore class into two sections.

"The high educational standards set by Mr. Stockton have been strictly adhered to. Our graduates have made good records, in many cases brilliant records in American Colleges. The result is that our school already has a reputation among American colleges for high scholarship. In nearly all cases our graduates have been accepted on our recommendation without examination, and in every case, during the last few years, colleges have given our school as high recognition as to any high or preparatory school in America. Our students watch with eagerness for every report of our graduates in college. And here on this platform are ten young men and women whose faces fairly glow with their determination not only to uphold and spread the reputation already made, but to raise that reputation even higher, and they know that this group of high school students expect it of them. They know that

REPARATIONS CRISIS IS AGAIN PASSED, BELIEF

France Unwilling To Impede Work Of Bankers' Committee

(Reuter's Service)

London, June 8.—The acute situation, threatened by France's disagreement with the Allies on the decision of the Reparations Commission, is now believed to have been averted owing to her expressed unwillingness, notwithstanding her vote, to block the labors of the Bankers' Committee. The French are disappointed at the Belgian attitude in supporting the views of the British and Italians.

Rome, June 8.—In the Chamber of Deputies today Signor Schanzer, the Italian Foreign Minister, said that closer British and Italian co-operation in Europe, the East and the Mediterranean ought to be based on an equitable estimate of mutual interests and a calm and friendly scrutiny of all diplomatic questions. The closer British and Italian solidarity that emerged from the Genoa Conference was being developed within a framework of understanding with other wartime Allies, notably France, friendship with whom they considered as one of the fundamental bases of their policy and an indispensable condition for the maintenance of peace in Europe.

Paris, June 8.—The communications between the International Bankers' Committee and the Reparations Commission regarding a loan to Germany show that the former sought elucidation of the wording of the payments schedule of the Versailles Treaty and at the same time submitted that it was free to examine the solutions, implying modifications of the schedule.

The Commission, replying, agreed that suggestions on these lines without pledging the Commission's responsibilities, would prove very valuable.

France, though the sole dissenter, agreed that the Commission's decision was valid and that the Bankers' Committee was at liberty to pursue its deliberations in accordance with it.

The Committee will meet again today to consider the situation created by the Commission's reply.

Paris, June 7.—The majority of the members of the Reparations Commission voted in favor of extending the powers of the International Bankers' Committee, France alone being opposed to this extension.

As a unanimous vote of the Commission is necessary to cancel any part of the indemnity under the Treaty of Versailles, the deadlock apparently continues.

According to a statement from an authoritative French source the question of the International loan to Germany was settled today, when the French delegate on the Reparations Commission intimated that the French Government adhered to its refusal to grant the request of the International Bankers' Committee for further powers with regard to the reduction of the German indemnity as a condition for sanctioning a loan to Germany.

The purchase effected by the executors of the Ezra estate, was made to Sir Robert Hotung of Hongkong and the consideration involved is said to be Tls. 1,050,000.

The property is in the neighborhood of the Hongkew market and is bounded by Boone, Nanzing Minghong, Seward and Wuchang Roads.

Municipal Orchestra Concerts Deferred

In the Municipal Gazette of January 5, the Council gave notice of the institution of a series of orchestral concerts to be given in June, July and August. In connection therewith, the construction of a new band platform became necessary, and the expenditure, estimated at Tls. 1,200, was approved by the Council, and provided for in the current Budget. Subsequent to approval of the plans of the proposed structure, the Conductor desired the inclusion of a retiring room for the musicians, involving additional expenditure of Tls. 650, and amendment of the plans. After consideration, this increase over the budget appropriation was authorised, and the work will be commenced forthwith.

As a result of the delay due to this rearrangement, it has been found necessary to postpone the orchestral concerts advertised to commence on Saturday, June 10, for a period of about three weeks. In the meantime brass band concerts will be given in accordance with the following schedule.

Friday, June 9, 5.30 p.m. Hongkew Park, Brass Band.

Saturday, June 10, 4.30 p.m. Race Course, Brass Band.

Monday, June 12, 5.30 p.m. Public Garden, Brass Band.

Wednesday, June 14, 5.30 p.m. Public Garden, Brass Band.

Thursday, June 15, 5.30 p.m. Public Garden, Brass Band.

Friday, June 16, 5.30 p.m. Hongkew Park, Brass Band.

WU AND TSAO KUN O.K. LI'S SCHEME; OFFER TO RESIGN

Wu's Friends Urge Him To Attend Tientsin Conference

BY JOSEF W. HALL

Staff Correspondent the China Press

Peking, June 7.—With the ministers of Communications, Finance, Navy and Justice and the vice minister of foreign affairs here from Peking, and with foreign Minister W. W. Yen here from Shanghai today to discuss with Li Yuan-hung his prospects for the execution of his program and to urge his acceptance of the presidency, Tientsin presents the aspects of a seat of government.

The first replies to Li's circular telegram arrived from Paotingfu today, Wu Pei-fu and Tsau Kun telegraphing their whole-hearted endorsement of his program and offering to sacrifice their official positions. They urge Li not to delay in accepting the presidency and to issue mandates for the execution of his program, which they offer to obey.

Wu's friends are urging him to make the trip to Tientsin, so that he can give Li personal assurance of his support. They believe that Wu can force the acceptance of Li's program if he once undertakes the position as military chief, and that the tuchuns would not dare to disobey Li's pronouncement if the Chihli military leader passed on the word that what Li said must be obeyed.

The task of abolishing the tuchunal system will not be easy, and in foreign circles in Peking the fear is expressed that the sudden disruption of the present system might lead to disorder among the soldiers, who would be unwilling to leave their posts without their pay. The most dangerous province, it is said, is Shantung, but plans are now being made for the part payment of the troops, at least, immediately upon the departure of the tuchuns, thus reassuring the soldiers.

LI YUAN-HUNG SAYS TUCHUNS 'MUST GET OUT OR RUIN CHINA'

Speaks Plainly In Long Circular Telegram

ASKS THEIR AID

Wu And Tsao Kun Accept His Program

BY JOSEF W. HALL

Staff Correspondent the China Press

Peking, June 8.—Li Yuan-hung's telegram announcing the terms upon which he would accept the presidency was despatched to all government departments in Peking, Canton, and all provincial government departments, educational associations, super tuchuns, tuchuns, governors, military commanders, newspapers and influential men in Shanghai, Canton, and other cities, and to all legations and consulates.

He begins by confessing his sin in the dismissal of the previous parliament, and although this was done under compulsion the act disqualifies him from any claim to the kind regard of the parliamentarians, who nevertheless have pressed upon him the duty of reuniting the country.

Then follows a scathing arraignment of the tuchunal system as China's "national disease." The talk of returning to constitutional government without first abolishing the Tuchuns is puerile, he says. Pacification, the establishment of democratic local or national government along true party lines all are impossible while the Tuchuns remain, for the reason that the politicians will use these military commanders who in turn will use the politicians.

FUTILE SCHEMES

Any attempt to create provincial constitutions does not go to the root of the evil, but merely changes the titles of harmful officers. Li refers in the beginning to his previous presidency, when he willingly gave up his military power and entered Peking trusting heaven alone, and that was the model that would have to be got back to today.

Yuan Shih-kai, he said, created a disturbance which was still unfinished, with the result that China was confronted by the danger of losing her national existence. The Chinese, therefore, must choose either to dispense with their Tuchuns or surrender their national existence.

Should the Tuchuns continue obdurate a day of reckoning will come to them when the people at last realise that their misery is due to these rulers. There will never be a better opportunity to save the nation than the present one.

OPPOSES "TAPERING"

Li answers the argument that the Tuchunate should be abolished gradually with the statement that it is the system, not the men, that he wants displaced; that many of the Tuchuns are men of irreproachable character, and helped to found the Republic and deserve well of their country, which will desire their services in more honorable capacities.

He then takes up the question of army reorganisation, which, he says, should be a simple matter if undertaken by a capable minister of war, who should be supreme, and who should have the direction of all pacification measures. He refutes those who say that the "constitution has been ignored so long that it should now be forgotten," and who contend that the cabinet should be entrusted with the task of maintaining foreign relations by asking if this is what the Washington Conference meant by its kindly advice to China. He asks where the nation's foreign relations will get to ultimately if allowed to continue in the present absurd manner, and answers those who contend that the president should resume his post in view of the present exigency by asking how long a soldierless president could maintain the dignity and responsibility of his office. "And if the Tuchunate be allowed to continue," he asks, "how can there be any guarantee against a recurrence of trouble?"

Now is the time, he says, to prepare the way for the success of the new cabinet by the abolition of obstacles that are sure to hinder it and doom it to failure.

It has been asked, he says, how the Tuchuns and Super-Tuchuns, who have shown a real zeal and anxiety for their country's welfare, can be conscientiously asked to relinquish their posts, thus penalis-ing them for their patriotism. But have not the Tuchuns been the very ones to ask him to take the presidency? he asks.

Li concludes with an appeal to the Tuchuns and Super Tuchuns thus:

"Tuchuns, super-Tuchuns, from high inspectors to garrison commanders, have ... not the same objective? Cast away your military power. Quit your posts. Go with me to Peking to assist in the reorganisation of the country. Do not attempt to evade the issue by a mere change of names. Let the Super-Tuchuns above all others guard against this temptation. We do not want the country split up into independent military areas.

"If parliament and the local administrative bodies invite me to Peking, I invite you to accompany me, with sincere minds, but with our first aim the abolition of your offices. In ten days you can wind up the affairs of your yamens. I will accompany you, not fearing any danger, and gladly offer myself to parliament for punishment for my past sins. Either you must cooperate with me in this, or see the extinction of the country before our eyes, and ourselves made slaves of others for many generations to come. What good would a private citizen be then, much less an official?

"My inclination is to remain in Tientsin until my death. My duty, however, is to save the country, this being the duty of all men, for it cannot be accomplished by any one man's strength.

"If the people continue to tolerate the Tuchunal handicap, you cannot say that I have not put forth my best effort. If you Tuchuns cannot part with your power, then you will have to find another to save the country, for I am unable to assist. I say this with tears in my eyes. Do my sentiments have your sympathy?

"Signed
"LI YUAN-HUNG."

(Reuter Pacific Service)

Peking, June 8.—The North China Star reports that General Tsao Kun and General Wu Pei-fu replied to General Li Yuan-hung's telegram as follows:

We must commend your most excellent idea which cannot but call forth praise on all hands. It is certainly as you state that it is most important to do away with Tuchuns and disband the armies. We will be glad to act on your suggestion in this sense when you have gone to Peking. We two will set an example for all other Tuchuns by giving up our offices. We trust that you will, therefore, go to Peking as quickly as possible and help China at this critical time.

Peking, June 8.—The Peking and Tientsin Times reports that replying to General Chang Tso-lin's request for an armistice General Wu Pei-fu and General Tsao Kun telegraphed the following terms:

The Fengtien forces must withdraw to Mukden and Hsinminfu, leaving Chinchow, Yinchow and Suichung neutral. They must release the rolling-stock and must not interfere further with Peking-Mukden traffic. The Chihli troops will not pass Shanhaikwan or the Chaoyang-Jehol district.

Peking, June 8.—Mr. Tung Kang, who returned to Peking last night, reported at a Cabinet meeting this morning that he had interviewed General Li Yuan-hung at Tientsin. The latter said that he did not desire to become President either of North or South China alone but of the Chinese Republic. If military leaders of the various organisations agreed with his plan he would go to Peking, otherwise not.

As Mr. Kao Eng-hung and Dr. W. W. Yen were to have interviewed General Li Yuan-hung this morning the Cabinet decided to await their report before deliberating further. They are expected to return to Peking this evening.

Hankow, June 7.—There was fighting last night between the Hunanese Generals Chow Hsu-tsze and Lao Ti-ping at Siangsiang, as a consequence of which General Chao Heng-ti has proclaimed martial law at Changsha.

Peking, June 7.—Speculation has been aroused regarding the recent visit of General Lu Yung-hsiang to Amoy, where the 2nd Chekiang Division is stationed. In view of the reported friendliness of this Division to General Wu Pei-fu it is suggested that he intends to change the command of it, but it is also suggested, however, that General Lu Yung-hsiang intends to visit General Chen Chiung-ming to discuss the situation.

It seems to be established that General Lu Yung-hsiang is acting principally for the Anfuites and may be promoting a new confederation of Kwangtung, Kwangsi, Kiangsi, Chekiang and Fukien.

In a message to several Anfu Tuchuns, General Lu Yung-hsiang opposes the apointment of General Li Yuan-hung and suggests the election of General Tuan Chi-jui as President.

It is believed, however, that if Kiangsi is successfully reinforced and the Southerners expelled from it, Kwangsi and Fukien would declare for General Wu Pei-fu while General Lu Yung-hsiang would cease agitating.

Peking, June 5.—General Li Hou-chi, Tuchun of Fukien, is reported to have left Foochow for Amoy. One report has it that he has gone thither to carry out reorganisation of the Second Fukien Division, while it is also hinted that negotiations are in progress between General Li and General Chen Chiung-ming.

Peking, June 5.—The Ministry of Communications has appointed Mr. Chu Tsung-yuan as Superintendent of Telegraphs for Chekiang.

Peking, June 6.—It is reliably reported that Dr. Sun Yat-sen has telegraphed to General Li Yuan-hung that he is unwilling to support him as president, that the Parliamentarians in Canton are of the same opinion, and that they will remain in Canton. The doubt therefore of the ability of the Old Parliament to get a quorum is very great. There are only 203 members north of the Yangtsze (some report 259) and it is somewhat doubtful if any more than these can be got together. On the other hand, it is said that the members in Canton are open to pursuasion when it is money that is doing the talking, and that General Wu has sent several hundreds of thousand dollars to Canton to argue for him.

Tang Kang Has New Financing Scheme

(Chung Mei service)

Peking, June 5.—An international organisation, in which Chinese and foreign bankers shall be represented equally and which shall have the power to audit all the accounts of the Peking Government, and to which all the funds that are coming into the Government at present shall be turned over—this is the plan which Mr. Tung Kang, new Minister of Finance has brought up before the meeting of the Cabinet, the meeting that is now known as the Administrative Council.

The Administrative Council has approved the plan. It is agreed that this is an excellent idea. The International Organisation shall supply to the Government every month three million dollars, with which the Government may meet the expenses of the administration.

As yet the plan is in embryo. The present government has hardly the power to put through such a comprehensive plan and one that will have such far-reaching effects but the leaders in what government there is consider the program a sound one.

It is reported that foreign bankers have not yet been consulted with regard to the plan. The Chinese bankers, however, are said to have the matter under serious consideration.

Sun Asks Proof Of Chihli Sincerity

In a manifesto issued by Dr. Sun Yat-sen, published in the Chinese press yesterday, it is stipulated that two conditions must be filled by the Chihli militarists as proofs of their sincere eagerness to place the national government on a constitutional basis and to expedite national reunification.

The first conditon is the chastisement of the culprits who have been working havoc to the country. The second is the pledging of unreserved support to the Parliament and the reduction of the army by fifty percent in order to convert the discharged soldiers into labor battalions for making good roads through-next year as reports of their successes drift back to Shanghai, each report will be met with cheers, by their friends and school mates here.

"We have an efficient system of student government. Our high school students have proven that they are capable of assuming responsibility and we have found that we can trust them with large freedom. The student senate has the confidence of the faculty, and no faculty could have the welfare of the school more at heart than has our student senate. We have also found that we can place confidence in their judgment. They conduct the student affairs and assist the faculty in the general management. Last year they organised a school newspaper, which they have edited, managed and financed successfully.

LEAD IN ATHLETICS

"In athletics our boys have proven themselves the peers of any school in this section of China. Our boys and girls are comrades and friends and we put forward the claim of having more happiness to the square inch than any other spot on this little round globe, and it is not selfish. It is not selfish to be happy, only the man who has found happiness himself is equipped to carry happiness to others, only as our boys and girls are happy are they prepared truly to serve humanity, and the happier they are the better prepared are they to spread happiness.

"We all are anxious for the new buildings. To some of us they have seemed to come very slowly, and in comparison with the need they do come slowly. We will have eighteen vacancies in the boarding department next year, already we have fifty-eight requests for reservations for new boarding students. Yet we are not able to meet the entire need, but let us look at it from another angle. Consider for a minute what we have accomplished in the space of ten brief years; a school of almost 300, a staff of 26, an alumni body of 42, a reputation for scholarship among the colleges in America, the confidence of the Mission Boards in America and of the American Community in China, a unique spirit of unselfishness, happiness and hard work among the students, a ranking place among the schools and colleges of Shanghai in athletics, 18 acres of land in one of the best residential districts all secure and paid for, money raised and plans complete for buildings sufficient for 100 boarding pupils and 250 additional day pupils, in all a total asset of over half a million Taels, foundations laid for the raising of another half million, a current school finishing its tenth year with all bills paid and no debts. We have accomplished more in ten brief years than any private colleges and preparatory schools in America have been proud to have accomplished in a half century, and the next decade promises even more rapid advance. Sometimes progress has seemed slow, but it is because we are so close to the school, it is because we love it so much. It is only when we sum up the accomplishments of a decade that we realise how rapid has been our progress.

"And members of the graduating class of 1922, it is fitting that you should today on the last day of the tenth year of the school, receive your diplomas from the hand of one who is soon to leave Shanghai after having won for himself a leading place in the American community and a warm place in the hearts of the members of that community, from one who has rendered great service not only to the American community as an active worker in many organisations and as the head of several, but who has given unstintedly of his time, and freely of his energy for the American School, as a member of its executive committee, as a member of its campaign committee of last fall and as chairman of its building committee.

"And Mr. Doremus, it is with great pleasure that I present to you these ten young men and women who have completed their work with us. All ten are going to colleges in America, six this fall, four a year later. Two will go to Dennison, two to Ohio Wesleyan, one to Wooster, one to Rochester, one to Amherst, one to Randolph-Macon, one to Agnes Scott and one to Davidson, and nine have already decided to return to take up some line of work after finishing college; in fact all nine declare that nothing can dissuade them from their purpose to return to China. I am happy to present to you the graduating class of 1922 of the Shanghai American High School."

The graduates were the Misses Karis Brewster, Hinghwa; Loretta Crawford, Soochow; Katharine Groesbeck, Swatow; Sarah White, Yencheng; Margaret Whiteside, Soochow; Elizabeth Wilbur, Shanghai; Messrs. Oliver, Caldwell, Yenping; Philip Chase, Shanghai; William Rice, Haichow; Herbert Waters, Swatow.

Miss Crawford and Mr. Waters delivered the senior theses.

Pickford Divorce Upheld In Nevada

(China Press Service)

Carson City, Nevada, June 5.—The Nevada Supreme Court has decided that the Pickford divorce is valid. The court says that until the state legislature empowers the attorney-general or other official to represent the state in divorce cases, that duty will remain where it has always been, namely, in the courts.

The appeal of Attorney-General Leonard Fowler for a dissolution of the divorce of Mary Pickford and Owen Moore, motion picture stars, was resubmitted to the Supreme Court on May 3.

New Reparations Crisis Is Passed

the German Government an official recognition of her proposal to float a public loan. The difficulties in the reparation problems have thus passed over in peace.

Earlier reports led to little hope on the part of Germany that her plea for better reparations terms would be granted and the possibility of the international bankers being given opportunity to aid in solving the European momentary crisis seemed far away.

Now it would appear that France has taken a more moderate course and has agreed to modify her demands in no inconsiderable degree. The news of the decision of the Reparations Commission was hailed in political and financial circles of Germany with delight as being the first concession granted the fallen foe.

Dr. Shelton Killed By Thibetan Bandits, Asserts Dr. Osgood

Fellow Missionary Who Assisted In Rescue Gives Interesting Details Of Death Of Medical Man Near Batang

In an article prepared especially for THE CHINA PRESS, Dr. Elliott I. Osgood, of the Foreign Christian Mission, Chuchow, Anwhei Province, brings to light for the first time a number of intergsting details connected with the death of Dr. A. L. Shelton, medical missionary, who was shot by robbers on February 16, 1922, when he was six miles from Batang.

"Dr. Shelton," Dr. Osgood writes, "became known throughout the civilised world when in 1920 he was captured by the Yunnan bandit, Yang Tien-fu. His rescue was effected by Frederick A. Smith, then Far Eastern correspondent for the Chicago Tribune, who accompanied me on the trip I made into Yunnan at that time. Dr. Shelton afterwards added to his wide reputation by the lectures he gave before the National Geographic Society and by his book, 'Pioneering in Thibet.'

"Yang Tien-fu was afterwards pardoned by the Yunnan governor and given a position in his army. It will be remembered that this governor, Tang Chi-yao, for some reason a little more than a year ago left Yunnanfu and went to Canton. The tuchun who succeeded in power in Yunnan did not have confidence in Yang Tien-fu and soon after taking office, had Yang's residence surrounded and put him in prison, and later had him shot. We give this bit of history as there has been abroad a suspicion that Dr. Shelton's death was brought about by members of Yang's old gang in revenge for Yang's having been punished for holding Dr. Shelton in captivity. Nothing is farther from the truth.

MEET CO-WORKERS

"Dr. Shelton, with two new families of missionaries, returned to the Orient last autumn. On October 31 this group started from Yunnanfu on the long journey overland to Batang. Two days out they met J. C. Ogden and family, their Batang coworkers, who were leaving for furlough. The meeting occurred within a few miles of where Dr. Shelton was captured in 1920. They spent a day together and then went on their opposite ways. Fifty-one days later (December 23) Dr. Shelton and his party arrived at Batang.

"For a number of years Dr. Shelton had been laying plans to make a trip to Lhassa and establish a hospital there. A short time before he left on furlough he was called by the Galon Lama in Chambdo, which is half way to Lhassa, to go to that place and operate on a large number of Thibetan soldiers who had been wounded in a recent battle with the Chinese. An escort was given him and he spent two weeks in the place operating and caring for the soldiers. At that time Dr. Shelton expressed to the Galon Lama his desire to start a hospital in Lhassa and this high official promised to do all in his power to aid him, giving him a passport and letters of introduction to the Great Lama. This made the possibility of such a trip more hopeful and the doctor began to mass the supplies which would be necessary to take with him.

ONLY ONE INJURED

"On February 15 of this year Dr. Shelton left Batang for Garthok, planning to see the Governor of Eastern Thibet and then return to Batang and make final plans for the Lhassa trip. At the end of his first day's trip there came a letter to him from the Governor, asking him to delay his trip as permission to make the trip must first be obtained from the Galon Lama. The doctor at once turned back toward Batang. When only six miles from home, the party were fired upon by robbers and Dr. Shelton was wounded in the arm and abdomen by the same bullet. The doctor was in front when the firing began and was the only member of the party injured.

"It is interesting that the medical assistant who accompanied Dr. Shelton on this trip and also on the former trip to Chambdo is the deposed Prince of Batang. He has for a number of years been a medical student in the Batang Hospital. When the robbers had driven off most of the baggage animals the Prince made his way into Batang and gave the alarm. The report reached Dr. Hardy, Shelton's coworker in the medical work, about 4 o'clock in the afternoon. Within a half hour Dr. Hardy was on the horse of the Prince riding for the scene of the shooting. The other missionaries got together a stretcher and bearers and followed Hardy.

LOSES CONSCIOUSNESS

"They found that Dr. Shelton had improvised a tourniquet with his handkerchief and riding whip and controlled the bleeding of the arm wound. But the bullet had evidently cut an internal artery and the doctor had lost consciousness before they reached him. His men had stuck by him and were rigging up a litter to convey him to Batang. Dr. Hardy redressed the wounds, gave the doctor a hypodermic of strychnia which revived him toward Batang. As soon as they met the party with the hospital stretcher he was transferred to it and they reached the hospital at ten o'clock that night. He sank again into unconsciousness and just before one o'clock the next morning passed on into the Great Beyond. Upon the trail back of the city, high on the mountain, they have buried his body with his face toward Lhassa, the city he sought to open. It was Chinese bandits who in 1920 held the doctor in captivity for more than two months. It was Thibetan bandits who shot him and robbed his caravan.

"Batang is ruled over by a Chinese magistrate and has a barracks with Chinese soldiers. Their power, however, does not extend beyond the city, except when a company of them actually go on the march. The place where Dr. Shelton was shot is a notorious place for robbery. Dr. Hardy says that he has an average of a half dozen gunshot cases every year which have been caused by robberies at that very point. Many more are annually killed in the encounters with the robbers. The Chinese soldiers have all they can do to hold the city itself. It is border warfare and will probably continue until the Chinese withdraw or show greater power to put down lawlessness and give the country decent government."

Li's Program Shows Promises Of Results

BY JOSEF W. HALL
Staff Correspondent the China Press

Tientsin, June 6.—President or ex-President (it is hard to know which is the proper title at the present time) Li Yuan-hung is showing himself a much more mature statesman than those who, with the best of intentions, have endeavored to stampede him into office. He is following a course which is not exactly what any of his advisers, including the press, have suggested, but which holds promise of constructive results. General Li has at last decided to recognise the call which the country is making to him and to respond by presenting a definite program, which he will announce by circular telegram to the country. This program will be the platform upon which he will be willing to reassume the responsibilities of the office of Chief Executive. The country-wide reaction toward this program will determine whether or not General Li is to proceed to Peking.

No details of the program are being given out in advance but it is likely that it will prove practical and considerate of the feelings of the military leaders who are to be called upon to sacrifice their favored positions for the benefit of the nation. Any platform to be successful at the present time must be laid on solid earth, not on the clouds. If General Li is going to interest himself in the present situation at all he must do so on a basis which at least recognises the element to be dealt with and makes allowance for those of an undesirable nature which cannot be immediately overcome. The only alternative is a stalemate, which, although it might be an evidence of General Li's adherence to principle, would fail to get the country anywhere.

The bouyant enthusiasm of the younger Paotingfu faction which sent its delegates Chiefs of Staff Li and Hsiang to Tientsin the day following President Hsu's retirement, to escort Li Yuan-hung without delay into the capital, has now given place to a more sober understanding of the situation. From Paotingfu, of course, a comprehensive political perspective was impossible to gain. It seemed to the exhuberant young leaders there that since they wanted President Li back in the president's chair, the whole country must equally want him and that he must in like degree want to return; and that since they were prepared to support him with their victorious armies there must be no obstacle in all China which could stand in his way. Although General Li and Hsiang's arrival in Tientsin to invite and escort Mr. Li Yuan-hung to the capital was well meant by all concerned, General Li's acquiescence to their desires would have been a tremendous mistake. What grounds such a move would have given for the accusation that two militarists were making a president and escorting him to his office through the means of their Chiefs of Staff! The incident would parallel Chang Tso-lin's action in escorting Liang Shih-yi to the premier's post in Peking.

It may be said with certainty that Li Yuan-hung's policy arouses the utmost satisfaction in General Wu Pei-fu's mind. Wu has from the beginning desired that someone other than himself, and most preferably Li Yuan-hung, should take the responsibility for laying down the policy and giving him (Wu) the privilege of appearing as an independent supporter. This release General Wu, as he has hoped from the beginning to be relieved, of the accusation of using his military prestige to enforce his political views. President Li's independent announcement of his platform is a far better solution of the problem than would be even a setting forth of a program worked out jointly by Li Yuan-hung and Wu Pei-fu. The two men have never met. If, in spite of the fact that there exists no personal relationship, President Li proposes and General Wu endorses, the world is unable to question the fact that they are merely two sincere and patriotic men drawn together by consideration for their country.

The moment Generals Wu and Li sit down at a table together the ugly word "intrigue" will be heard and will not be silent. Suspicion will arise in more than one quarter. Tsao Kun, whose attitude towards General Wu and his young associates of the Chihli party has been in all respects proper (he has given General Wu his armies, his funds and even his private residence for use as staff headquarters—and more than that, an absolutely free hand in military and political affairs), will be lead to believe that an effort is being made to induce Wu to throw over his old patron. Sun Yat-sen will not miss the opportunity of raising the cry of politics by military force. General Wu would cripple himself by the suspicions aroused and President Li would place himself under the disability of being unable to deal with other factions on an untrammeled basis and to maintain toward General Wu that independence which should be his in his relations with all leaders and parties.

Neither General Wu or President Li have ever considered a joint sitting or proclamation as desirable and reports of General Wu's intention of coming to Tientsin today are as baseless as the many other stories of Wu's movements which originate outside of Paotingfu.

Your Health Comes First

Good Health is your most valuable asset;—its preservation should, therefore, receive your most careful consideration. An important point which should always be borne in mind is the fact that a great many forms of ill-health can be traced, directly or indirectly, to disorders of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. It is wise, therefore, to keep these organs in healthy activity. When they show any signs of derangement let that reliable medicine, Beecham's Pills, be taken at once. Always deal with digestive ailments in time. They are far-reaching in their possibilities of mischief if neglected, as they too often are. Japanese Favor British Mandate For Palestine

Mr. N. E. B. Ezra, Hon. Secretary of the local Zionist Association having written to Count Yasuya Uchida, Japan's Minister for Foreign Affairs, on the eve of the Genoa Conference on the 9th ultimo, regarding the ratification of the British Palestine mandate and the desirability of all the Allied Powers to support the Jewish title to Palestine on the basis of the Balfour Declaration, has just received a favorable communication from Mr. T. Funatsu, the local Japanese Consul General, informing him that the Foreign Minister for Japan wishes to reiterate Japan's sympathy with the Jewish national aspirations for a homeland in Palestine and her readiness to view favorably the ratification of the mandate for Palestine.

The ratification of the mandate is expected to come up for decision at a special meeting of the League of Nations Council on the 16th proximo. Meanwhile, it is interesting to note that all the leading Powers have again reiterated their sympathy with Zionism and their readiness to ratify the Palestine Mandate.

On May 3, the United States congress unanimously passed the following Resolution:

"Resolved, That the United States of America favors the establishment in Palestine of the National Home for the Jewish people, it being clearly understood that nothing shall be done which may prejudice the civil and religious rights of non-Jewish communities in Palestine, and that the Holy Places and religious buildings and sites in Palestine shall be adequately protected."

The resolution is a joint resolution requiring a vote in the house and the signature of the President.

Prince's Visit To Cement Friendship

(Reuter's Service)

London, June 8.—Presiding at a dinner of the Japan Society, Baron Hayashi, in proposing the toast of The King, expressed the opinion that the visit of the Prince of Wales to Japan would cement good Anglo-Japanese relations for years to come and that they would remain very friendly. (Cheers.)

Replying to the toast of his health proposed by Sir Charles Addis, the Japanese Ambassador said that unfortunately China was in a very difficult position. Some said that it was the dawn of settlement. He hoped that China, their mutual friend, would settle down to normal conditions. China was a vast country and had an enormous future if properly developed. Great Britain might find in China one of her greatest markets. It was for Sir Charles Addis to see to that. The Japanese would be very happy to co-operate with their English friends and that co-operation had become possible, especially after the Washington Conference. (Cheers.) They were thankful to their American friends, he concluded, for enabling them to co-operate in China and so make the Pacific Ocean really pacific. (Cheers.)

DESTROYER'S NINES TO MEET THIS AFTERNOON

37th And 38th Divisions To Play Off Old Tie At 3:30 p.m.

RIVALRY IS VERY KEEN

Both Teams Have Played Over The Orient Without Decision

Shanghai fans will be treated to a real game of baseball this afternoon, when the nines of the 37th and the 38th Destroyer Divisions meet. The two teams have broken even all over the Far East and hope to settle the supremacy of the Flotilla today.

The 37th division is the team that beat Shanghai here Wednesday, when with John Scott pitching winning ball, the local lads failed him in batting support, for a losing score. The 38th have not yet been seen in action here, though they are credited with being as good as the 37th.

There is a keen rivalry between the two divisions of the torpedo fleet. The 37th and the 38th have just played a long even series in the Philippines, and the present occasion in Shanghai is the first opportunity they have had this year for a settlement.

The game will give local fans a good chance to judge the chances of the Shanghai team in the games on Saturday and Sunday. Hopkin's nine is booked with the 38th for tomorrow and with the 37th again for Sunday.

Callery, the man who played left field against Shanghai on Wednesday and startled the fans with a wonderful catch in center-left field, will do the pitching for the 37th, while Dunlap, the hard-hitting catcher will do the back stopping. The 38th will oppose their fleet mates with a battery just as strong.

The game is scheduled to commence at 3:30 p.m.

Shanghai Hero Is Married In Scotland

Mr. David Palmer, formerly an engineer with the China Merchants Company of Shanghai, and the hero of the collision between the Meifoo and Kwanglee on April 20, 1912, was married in Stirling, Scotland, recently according to word just received in Shanghai.

Mr. Palmer's bride was Miss Jean Dickson McFarlane, daughter of the late Mr. Donald McFarlane and Mrs. McFarlane of Westwood Farms, Stirling.

Mr. Palmer was the second engineer on the Meifoo, lying in a heavy fog off Eagar Island in 1912 when the s.s. Kwanglee collided with it. Forty persons were drowned in the wreck. Palmer found himself floating around in the icy cold water on a chicken coop, to which he clung until he heard cries for help. He slipped from his life-raft and swam toward the crying voice, rescuing Mr. J. Smith, the first officer, who was unable to swim. Later he assisted in saving a Chinese also.

For his heroism Mr. Palmer was awarded the Royal Humane Society's medal, and the Stanhope Gold Medal, awarded to the seaman performing the bravest act of the year of the award. He was a member of the Engineer's Institute when he lived in Shanghai, and has many old friends still in the service here. He left Shanghai in 1914 to go to war and remained in Scotland.

BAER SAYS 'BUGS'

UMP FOWLER WAS SAFE AND SOUND

He Was A Wave Inspector For The Wireless Broadcasting Station At Roughtown

BY "BUGS" BAER

Sir Dear:

After a beefsteak dinner given recently by the vegetarians of Dubuque at the Municipal spook convention, presided over by Conan Doyle, Gink Fowler was mentioned as a candidate for jail.

The barber who clipped Gink's hair had to use a putty knife.

Gink's father was so small that he used to chase mice under the door without taking his high hat off.

His mother was so tough she thought that a barbed wire fence was a lavalliere.

Their family tree was paison ivy. Roughtown was a one-horse town and the guy with two wagons was out of competition.

Gink had a no-trespassing sign tatooed on his bean to prohibit woodpeckers from grabbing a square meal when he took off his hat.

Yours in anguish,
FRED ALLEN,
Chief Knothole in our Local Board.

Everything Mr. Allen says is true. But he speaks like a Pullman train. He compels us to admit it is true. With reservations.

Gink Fowler feared no man who buttered his bread with a soup spoon. He was Roughtown's leading citizen in riots, panics and bad debts.

When he strode out on a baseball field there was silence from everybody but the two teams and the fans. They loved Gink. They gave him a benefit that was a duke. They admired him.

Gink was not the highest type of citizen. He had his faults and thought that a black and blue eye was a beauty mark.

He also thought that South Bend was the cramps. And that Marblehead was a Senator. But he knew that Long Island City was no town

Figuring it all in, we would say that he was safe and sound.

He was absolutely safe and sound. He could open one without the other.

GRIFFITH GETS CONCESSIONS ON TREATY POINTS

Induces Provisional Government To Yield In Disputes

(Reuter's Service)

London, June 8.—Mr. Arthur Griffith has brought from Ireland the assurances of the Provisional Government on several points, nearing on the Irish Constitution, which have hitherto been presented in a form unacceptable to the British Government. Discussions are proceeding between him and Mr. Winston Churchill and Lord Birkenhead.

London, June 7.—Yesterday's nominations in South Ireland give hope that the elections will still constitute a partial popular consultation on the question of the Treaty, though it is feared that intimidation and violence may nullify this.

Out of 27 multiple constituencies there will be contests in 20, returning some 96 members. A great majority of the Independent candidates, who number about 50, are in favor of the Treaty.

London, June 7.—It is anticipated that many of the 47 Non-Coalition candidates for the Irish elections, who were nominated yesterday will withdraw before the polling day.

Alleged Reds Are Detained In Yokohama

Three Poles, two men and one woman, representing themselves as a peer, his wife and secretary, are being investigated by the Yokohama police following their arrival there from Shanghai.

The supposed Polish peer is reported to have been married to a Polish girl in Shanghai just before sailing. No names have been given out by the Yokohama police and the entire affair is shrouded in mystery.

Abolish Federal Courts Says Senator Norris

Should the United States District and Circuit Courts be abolished?

In the opinion of United States Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska, a former Judge and now the Chairman of the Committee on Agriculture, this should be done and the jurisdiction now held by those courts transferred to the State tribunals, leaving just one great Federal court, namely, the Supreme Court of the United States.

In suggesting the abolishment of these courts Senator Norris points out that in so doing he is not reflecting upon the integrity of those courts or the Judges who preside over them. It is the system, asserts Senator Norris, that is wrong. A system, he argues, that duplicates the work of the State courts, a system in which, he adds, the cost of litigation has become so high as to render it almost impossible for the poor man to fight his rights in the Federal tribunals. Senator Norris quoted Chief Justice Taft as authority for the statement that there is no more important question before the American people today than the solution of the problem involved in the high cost of justice in the United States.

"To my mind," said Senator Norris, "there is something fundamentally wrong with our judicial system. We have for one thing a duplicate system of Judges in the United States. We have United States Courts and United States Judges, and then we have State courts and State Judges. Thus there is a double set of judicial machinery in every community, two Judges, two Court Houses, two sets of administrative officials, all doing the same kind of work and the taxpayers footing the bill.

"I am inclined to think it would require a Constitutional amendment to reach this situation. I do not expect to see that accomplished. I wish that I could cause the American people to think about this, to work it over in their minds, and to realise that we have a judicial system in America that costs too much money. Justice is too expensive, so expensive in fact that the poor man cannot afford to buy it.

HARDSHIPS ON LITIGANTS

"In the more sparsely settled sections of the country, where the people, engaged in building up a new empire, are poorer, the places for holding the Federal courts are hundreds of miles apart. I lived for a number of years in a town which was 250 miles distant from the nearest Federal court, and many a time I have advised clients who wanted to employ me that they had better travel the 250 miles and employ a lawyer there, because I knew from my experience that a man of ordinary means could not afford to hire a lawyer, pay his expenses, perhaps, to be in court five minutes, have his case adjourned and then to pay the expenses of witnesses coming perhaps from places great distances away.

"Thousands of times this has meant bankruptcy for the man of ordinary circumstances who has been so unfortunate as to become involved in litigation in the Federal courts. When I say this I, of course, do not mean to intimate that justice would not be done when the case was reached for trial. Yet from the very nature of things such a condition may in any number of instances mean financial ruin.

"Now why is it that we have two sets of courts? Why not have only one set, so that all, rich and poor alike, could go into one court? The framers of the Constitution, I presume, felt that the Judges in one State might be prejudiced against the people of another State, and that there ought to be a tribunal that would be fair as between the two, and so the Federal courts were organised. Is there anybody who believes this to be the case now? Can it be contended that a man from one State cannot get justice in the courts of another State? I would like to have the name of such a State and be advised of the character of its judiciary where a man from another State cannot secure justice. It is a fiction. It is all poppycock.

WOULD GET JUSTICE

"Whatever reason may have existed originally to support such an argument no longer exists. There is no reason why a man from North Dakota who has a suit against me should not sue me in the State courts of Nebraska. If that man came into Nebraska and committed a murder, where would he be tried? He would be tried in the State courts of Nebraska. He would be tried in a country court house before a Nebraska State Judge. No one for an instant would contend that he would not get a fair trial. He would get justice and that is all he would want.

"But suppose that a corporation is involved. This corporation is incorporated in New Jersey. The corporation is sued in Nebraska. The first thing the corporation does is to have the case transferred from the State to the Federal courts. The law permits that on the theory that the corporation may not get justice in the State, and yet if it was a man and that man's life was at stake no one would think of even suggesting a transfer to the United States courts. But it is different when it is a corporation. And if that corporation was suing a man, and that man was a poor man, it would be able to bring him into the United States court and wear him out. The poor man would not be able to continue the fight in that court and the result might be that he would settle, and submit to a wrong, and even degradation, in order to keep out of court.

I say, and again let me emphasise that I am not reflecting upon our courts or the Judges thereof, that the fact remains that it is quite generally believed by a great many people in America that these two systems of courts are for two classes of people, one for the poor and the other for the well-to-do. There is some foundation for that belief, not based, however, upon any corruption of the courts or any disposition on the part of any Judge not to do right or to enforce the law properly, but from the very nature of the conditions in large sections of the country that is true.

"I think that it is a fact conceded by students of the situation that our judicial system is not doing justice to rich and to poor alike. It is due to the system. In my judgment we ought to abolish every United States district court in America. We ought to abolish entirely the United States Court of Appeals and leave nothing of the Federal judicial system except the Supreme Court of the United States. We ought to give to State Judges and State courts all the jurisdiction now held by these Federal courts, excepting, of course, the Supreme Court. We would have to have more Judges in the State, I admit, but there would be no duplication.

"We would not have a whole court machinery presided over by a Federal Judge when across the street was another court exactly like it presided over by a State Judge, doing exactly the same kind of business, enforcing exactly the same principles of law, with absolutely no difference except that in the one case the Judge drew a larger salary than in the other, that the United States Marshal received more pay than the Sheriff, the clerk in one was paid higher than the clerk of the other court, but with the taxpayers footing the bill in each instance.

COST IS ENORMOUS

"The difference in cost between litigation in the State courts and litigation in th Federal courts is something enormous. Ask lawyers who have practiced in both courts if it is not true, as a rule, that when a case is tried in the Federal courts the fee charged is higher than the fee that would be usually charged if the case were before a State court. I think that universally the fee is larger in the United States courts. The Marshal receives higher fees than does the Sheriff, the clerk gets more fees, there is a large stenographer's bill, there is the printing cost; expenses are doubled or trebled at every step in the litigation.

"Let me call as a witness Mr. Taft, the Chief Justice of the United States, bearing on the point I am making. Understand, I am not claiming that the Chief Justice, or any of the other great lawyers I might quote, would advocate as I do the abolishment of the Federal district and circuit courts, but the statement I make that there is a condition in the country where the poor man cannot get justice, that it is an impossibility because of the system, that justice is too expensive, that the condition is an alarming one and cries out aloud for remedy, is borne out by the statement of the Chief Justice.

"The Chief Justice has said and I quote him:

"'Of all the questions,' said Chief Justice Taft, 'which are before the American people, I regard no one as more important than the improvement of the administration of Justice. We must make it so that the poor man will have as nearly as possible an equal opportunity in litigating as the rich man, and under present conditions, ashamed as we may be of it, this is not a fact.'

"These are the words of William Howard Taft, ex-President of the United Staets and now Chief Justice of the United States. It bears out my statement that under our system of dual jurisprudence there is justification for the common belief on the part of millions of common people that on account of their poverty alone justice does not reach the great masses of our people as it does those that are rich.

ANOTHER AUTHORITY

"Let me quote from another distinguished Judge—Chief Justice Olson of the Chicago Municipal Court. He says:

"'When litigation is too costly, the result for many persons is a denial of justice. Such denial or partial denial of justice engenders social and commercial friction. The sense of helplessness thus caused incites citizens to take the law into their own hands. It causes crimes of violence. It saps patriotism and destroys civic pride. It arouses jealousy and breeds contempt for law and Government.'

"Is there any one who will deny that? As Chief Justice Taft has said, however much ashamed we may be of it, or however much we may dislike to admit that it is true, we know it to be true that a denial of justice, when known to the people against whom it is denied, means that they may take the law into their own hands. When we have a citizenship in that condition it is true to stop and ponder this matter very seriously.

"When all is said the fact remains that the most expensive place to litigate in the United States is the United States courts That cannot be gainsaid, and justice is not any better there than it is in the State courts—not a particle. We have the most inefficient judicial system in the world. We could hardly make it worse unless we should make it triplicate instead of duplicate. For myself I do not see how the system can be defended on fundamental principles.

"One of the fundamental principles which have come down in the common law is that a man charged with a crime must be tried by a jury of his peers, that no man can be hauled away from the place where the crime is alleged to have been committed and be tried in a strange land. That has been secured in the common law and we adhere to it yet. We claim it as one of the standbys of human liberty. Why does it not apply to a Judge?

"The Federal Judges are not familiar with local conditions as the State Judges are. They are not responsive to the pulsations of humanity. They are held aloof by their positions, holding them for life as they do. We know that the security of a life position and a life salary makes them forget too often the toiling masses who are struggling for an existence. Thus we have another prejudice, either right or wrong, that has grown up against the Federal courts.

DOES NOT WORK OUT

"One of the principal uses of the Federal Judge is to have him issue injunctions. Some time ago the Federal Trade Commission, I understand, undertook to investigate the Steel Trust. They were promptly met with an injunction restraining them from considering it. They undertook to look into the coal business and were met with an injunction restraining them from going into it on the ground that the operation of coal mines was not an interstate business and hence they had no jurisdiction. I am informed that about the same time in a State where there is much coal mined an action was commenced by a similar commission, holding its authority from the State, and that commission was met by a Federal injunction restraining them on the ground that the coal business was interstate. So they get them coming and going. You can take your choice, you who pay fabulous prices for coal.

"I am also informed that not very long ago the United States Railroad Labor Board, provided for in the Esch-Cummins law, had a hearing on a complaint of some kind involving a dispute between the Pennsylvania Railroad and its employes. The board was about to decide the case against the railroad when they were promptly met with an injunction restraining them from rendering a decision. I do not believe that such decrees, which I believe destructive of good government and unreasonable, could be obtained in the State courts. No Federal Judge ought to have a right to grant an injunction against another Federal authority from from performing a duty laid down by law.

"In conclusion, I will say that I know that the object and the purpose of our whole Federal court system was a noble one, as laid down by the founders of the Republic, but when we put the system into operation we find that it does not work out right. It is duplicating at an enormous expense the work done by the State courts. No man will be injured, no interest will be hurt, by the abolishment of the United States courts and the conferring of their jurisdiction upon the State courts."

Peking Abolishes Railway; Workers Flop To Chang

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, June 7.—The Szepingkai Railway Administration, which was recently abolished owing to lack of funds to complete the line, has replied with a notification that it no longer recognises the authority of the Chiaotungpu, and means to carry on under General Chang Tso-lin.

It is reported from Manchuria that General Kao Shih-ping has retired to Vladivostok, and that one of his subordinates with a thousand men is moving South to Hunchun.

Fengtien troops in the North are beginning counter-measures to offset the progress of the flanking left Chihli column. The former has occupied Chaoyangfu from where the Commissioner has fled to Chihfenghsien, where the Chihli forces defeated the Fengtien troops. It is reported that the Fengtien troops have also occupied Kienchanghsien, which indicates a movement to retake Jehol.

Soviet Criticises British Churchmen

(Reuter's Service)

London, June 7.—The Soviet Government, replying to the protest by the Archbishops of Canterbury and York, denies that it attacked the Church and says that it only prosecuted individuals, including the Patriarch Tikhon, on account of their resistance to the Soviet's measures to save the lives of tens of millions.

The Soviet deplores the fact that the English Churchmen express solidarity not with the starving masses, but with an insignificant number of Russian Churchmen who were always abettors of the Tsar, nobility and bureaucracy.

The Archbishop of Canterbury has replied, refusing to withdraw any of his statements, but, in view of the Soviet's explicit demenl, requests permission to send a representative delegation of British churches to Russia to investigate the situation.

June 8, 1922

Spot bar silver was up ⅜d. and forward ½d. in London yesterday.

The New York price advanced to 71⅝ cents, and the London-New York cross rate to 450½.

The official Sterling rate this morning was raised to 3-6, the Gold Dollar rate to 78¾, the Yen rate dropped to 60¾, and the other rates changed accordingly.

The market opened steady and became firm during the course of the day. In the early part of the morning, business in Sterling was done at 3-6¼ for June-July, and in Gold Dollars at 79¼. In the afternoon, however, there were sellers of Sterling at 3-6⅞ for June and 3-6¾ for July-August. There were sellers of Gold Dollars at 80⅜ for June and 80¼ for July-August.

There were again a few bills offering today, and speculators were also sellers.

India and China both sold silver in London yesterday, and the market is reported as steady.

New York report their market as steady, with moderate offerings.

Exchange Market

Messrs. Maitland, Fearon and Brand write as follows in their exchange circular for week ending Wednesday:

Exchange:—The price of silver in London has shown a steady decline during the past week, the latest quotations of 35¼d. for spot and 35⅛d. forward being respectively 1¼d. and 1⅜d. lower than this day last week. The decline is reported to be due to China selling, and the market is quoted as closing uncertain. Locally the market has been fairly active, but rates throughout have indicated a falling tendency, owing to local gold dealers augmenting an already overbought position. A certain amount of profit-taking took place today with the result that the tone of the market at the close is decidedly firmer, and sterling for near delivery is offering at 3s. 6¼d. and Gold dollars 79¼. The New York-London rate has improved to 450½, the highest point touched since July, 1919. Exports continue to be on a very small scale.

Our stocks of silver are reported as follows:

Sycee and Bar Silver Tls. 24,431,000, an increase of Tls. 641,000.

Chinese and Mexican Dollars $31,230,000, an increase of $1,010,000.

Estimated value Tls. 46,916,000 as against Tls. 55,898,000 held this time last year.

Postal Service And The Press

SELLING service for Uncle Sam is a function of newspapers and periodicals too often overlooked by Members of Congress. Publications are the invaluable sales agencies which keep the government's cash registers jingling constantly, yet they receive no commission for developing business for the Post Office Department and other Federal organisations. There is a deplorable tendency on the part of government statisticians to overlook the fact that the revenue accruing to the Post Office from its operations need not be direct or paid in postage or in money to be measurable and that the indirect returns are specially noteworthy in connection with the distribution of second class matter.

The Post Office is the largest business operation in the world, as it has an annual turnover in excess of $3,000,000,000 and has 326,000 employes on its payrolls. Newspapers, through their editorial and advertising columns, create profitable employment for the Post Office Department in addition to advancing the social welfare of the people.

A discriminatory tax, originally imposed as a War Revenue Measure, is driving these sales producing agencies from the Post Office Department, the government's biggest business institution. The excessive postal rates restrict the circulation of newspapers and at the same time shut off revenues from other sources. News and advertising pages of publications increase the desire of the public for various commodities. Second class matter carried at a low rate produces large quantities of letter mail, paying the highest rate of postage. An official report from a government investigating body known as the Penrose Overstreet Commission, attested to this fact in the declaration that "second class matter is itself the cause of a great volume of first class matter, upon which the Department reaps a handsome profit." Practically every Postmaster General has made the frank statement that second class matter is instrumental in originating a large amount of other classes of mail matter.

In facilitating the widest distribution of publications entered as second class mail matter, the Post Office is at the same time promoting its own activities and bringing about closer co-operation of its own patrons in the direction of better and more economical service. The Post Office Department has of late utilised these sales agencies by inaugurating a widespread plan of publicity. Through these mediums, the Federal Government delivers a personal message to the users of the mails.

The Postal Savings system owes its remarkable growth to the widespread publicity given in newspapers and periodicals. The space is contributed to the Government. By this method of encouraging thrift among the people the Post Office Department hopes to restore to the channels of trade the many millions of dollars now hoarded.

The indispensable service performed by the newspaper and periodical press during the war is well known. Little cognisance is taken by the government officials of the peace-time service of the press. The post war publicity requirements of the government are constant—the citizenship must be kept informed of changing laws and proposed legislation, as tax payers they must be instructed, they must be advised what the different government agencies want them to know about commercial opportunities, banking and currency conditions, shipping expansion, work of employment bureaus, weather forecasts, court decisions, presidential proclamations, congressional proceedings, etc.

What is thus carried through the mails in publications paying second class postage rates, saves the government the cost of disseminating the same in public documents, circular announcements, or through members of the official establishments, though it is hardly possible that it could be done as well and as promptly by any other means than as at present. The conclusion follows that in postal administration questions of cost cannot be controlling over either the extension of the service or the fixing of the charges to patrons.

The animating spirit of the press is to help the government in all its activities, yet there are a handful of men who would selfishly curb the extension of its influence.

The war tax on second class mail matter was made in the form of four successive annual increases that constituted an increase of 100 to 900 percent and this war tax has in no way been lessened. The publishers are not asking for the complete repeal of these taxes, but only a modification retaining in effect an increase of 175 percent over the pre-war rate. All other industries have been given legislative relief from war laws. Surely, there can be no doubt as to the equity of their appeal.

The Mystery Of Bird Migration

BY HENRY S. WILLIAMS

The greatest mystery about the life of the bird attaches to its habit of semi-annual migration. That the birds come to us in Summer and go away for the Winter is so familiar a fact that mostly we cease to wonder at it, but it is a very marvelous phenomenon nevertheless.

If you go into the park on May Day you will find many birds there, but by no chance will you see an oriole or a tanager or any one of a group of warblers and vireos and kinglets that will fairly swarm in the tree tops two weeks later. If you know the habits of these birds, you can predict almost to the day their time of coming. You know, too, that some of them will remain here and build their nests and rear their young; whereas others will go on farther to the north to spend their Summer. You know that some of these tiny voyagers spend their Winters in the region of the Gulf of Mexico, while others go on to South America, many of them penetrating to the depths of the Brazilian jungles.

How can a bird that seems to flit feebly from one lurking place to another, as does the little house wren, manage a voyage of hundreds of miles through the upper air?

And even granted power for such a flight, how does the little voyager find its way?

That is a great mystery. Ornithologists believe that the migrating bird follows an instinct imposed upon it by its ancestors, who, in the remote past, were obliged to change their habitat, moving to the south, because the northern region was covered with a sheet of snow and ice, in what is known as the glacial epoch, or ice age. There were several such epochs, the geologist tells us, and the birds may be supposed to have fled before the ice sheet and to have returned when the ice melted. Hence the habit of moving northward was established; and, with modified climatic conditions, the birds have continued to recede before the rigors of Winter each Autumn and to return each successive Spring to spend the Summer in their old haunts.

But at best such an explanation merely gives an inkling as to how the impulse to migrate became instinctive. It certainly does not explain how the bird is able to make its semi-annual voyage of hundreds or thousands of miles through trackless space.

The old-time naturalist thought that the birds must be guided by vision, following the general direction of rivers and coast lines. But that explanation hardly holds, for it is known that some birds, like the golden plover, leave the coast of Nova Scotia and pass directly southward across the ocean to the coast of Brazil.

It is well known that individual birds are local in habitat, shifting but little to the east or to the west. There is reason to believe that all birds move directly southward in their autumnal migration voyage, and come back directly along the same meridian. We know that the same individual birds return to our dooryards year after year. We can scarcely doubt that they have some sense to guide them which we human beings totally lack. Perhaps it is a feeling for the earth's magnetism which in effect gives each bird a compass in its head.

That is a mere guess, in default of a better explanation. But whatever the true explanation, the fact that a tiny bird can make a voyage of thousands of miles and return to the same spot is a phenomenon worth pondering. We mortals are such arrogant beings that it is worth our while to recall now and again our natural limitations. In the presence of the tiniest warbler that drops down in a tree top in Central Park, let us say, en route from Brazil to Canada, the wisest man may well experience a feeling of humility.

Japan And Propaganda

(Note: The writer of this article was for four years during the war military observer for the London Daily Express)

BY LT. COL. B. ROUSTAM BEK

As far back as 1920 I had already recommended in the American Press that Japan had to be watched and watched closely.

"Watch Japan!" echoed Lord Northcliffe in his frank and outspoken article in the Daily Mail of April 18, 1922.

It is well known that Lord Northcliffe can in no sense be considered as a friend of Soviet Russia, but in his reference to the militaristic Japan and its policy in the Far East, he is not only a friend to the Soviets but is even their ally; because he realises perfectly well that without Soviet Russia's assistance to Great Britain and America, Japan would be able to successfully carry out its aggressive plan towards China, Australia, India and the Philippines. Therefore, there cannot be any doubt that this severe critic of the Soviet Regime in Russia would, when the critical moment arrives, exert all his efforts to turn British public opinion in favor of the Russians no matter what their political opinions may be, as was already the case in 1914.

With extraordinary precision, Lord Northcliffe analysed the moral of Japanese diplomacy which is the blind weapon of the Japan's military party; he says "Japan is as indifferent in its policy to the keeping of treaties as many a private Japanese trader in regard to the infringement of other people's patents and trade-marks." In regard to this, I have at my disposal abundant material referring to the period when I was prisoner of war in Japan in 1905. I remember that once the Russian officers of the concentration camp in Matsuyama protested against the Japanese authorities reproaching them for violating International Law. "By our own Japanese International Law it is rightly done" was the Japanese answer to the Russian protest.

As far as I can remember, a famous case in the Tokio Law Court (in 1907-8) was widely discussed by the Press of the world; it referred to the imitation by a Japanese firm of the famous "Black and White" whisky. To the astonishment to all contemporaries the case was adjudged in favor of the imitators, though they used the trade mark etc., of the famous British whisky manufacturers. Thousands and thousands of similar examples can be told as proof of the amazing quality of the moral of the Japanese statesmen and merchants.

Lord Northcliffe is paying the greatest attention to Japanese propaganda. It has to be mentioned that the Japanese press as well as the foreign newspapers which are bribed or subsidised by the military clique of Tokio do not miss any opportunity to lament over the existing propaganda in the world that is directed against the innocent and peace loving Japanese nation. Since the Russian revolution, the Bolsheviki became the aim of such Japanese accusation, but in reality the Russians are forced to defend themselves from a most energetic Japanese campaign in the Press and if the Bolsheviki are stronger in that struggle it only proves that intellectually and scientifically they are much superior to their adversaries.

In regard to the dangers of Japanese propaganda, Lord Northcliffe is drawing the greatest attention from British and American public opinion. "We have always to remember," he says, "that hourly, daily, weekly—morning, noon, and night—Japanese propaganda is at work in the form of bribed newspapers, propaganda news agencies, propaganda plays, and propaganda films, and that quite a considerable amount of this propaganda has been widely diffused in Great Britain and the United States."

I entirely agree with Lord Northcliffe in this respect; he is absolutely right in disclosing this truth about militaristic Japan but I can throw more light on Japanese propaganda. It is well known to everybody, that there cannot be a good army without the moral support of the whole population, and an armed force of any country is always like a mirror reflecting the nation itself. No sound policy can be expected from a government which is lacking the moral support of its people; consequently there cannot be any sound strategy and no matter how perfect the fighting force of a country may be from a technical viewpoint it has to fail sooner or later, in case of a conflict with an army which is backed by a nation morally and led by strategy which has to accomplish a sound strategical plan.

The same can absolutely be said with regard to propaganda. In Japan, there cannot be successful propaganda because it is based on wrong policies and low moral aspirations of the militaristic part of the Japanese population which represents the minority while the majority does not support it.

Thanks to the lack of sound policy in Japan, the Japanese press finds itself in a state of great confusion and even the newspapers, which are subsidised or bribed by the military clique, very often do immense harm to the latter's cause by trying to support it unwillingly. This is also due to complete ignorance on the part of the editorial staff and the writers themselves in reference to the theories against which they have to fight.

In the Summer of 1921, the North China Standard, for instance, published a series of articles devoted to economical questions. It was a most amusing salad where Utopian Socialism was mixed with Marxism, and Anarchical Individualism with Communism. It was a most characteristic illustration of human ignorance and illiteracy.

The Zadiyo Nippon for instance attained the very zenith of stupidity in fighting Bolshevism and discovered that the principles of American democracy and those of Socialism are absolutely the same.

The greater part of the Japanese newspapers which wage the propaganda campaign against the Soviets is too far away to understand the existing difference between Collectivism and Individualism.

Being proud of the Japanese spirit of Nipon dama (Bushido) which, being based on the principles of collectivism, is naturally hostile to the individualism, these newspapers frighten the Japanese with Bolshevism which is based on principles of Collectivism, and bitterly attack it for its fight against Individualism.

In short, I can state that in its struggle against Bolshevism, the Japanese press is absolutely ignorant and has, first of all, to learn the alphabet of sociology in order to be able to call themselves propagandists in the real sense of this word. Now, thanks to the ignorance of their leaders and thanks to their stupid lies they only help their enemies, by disclosing the real facts.

It is a remarkable thing that the press, which is devoting its work to the cause of Japanese Imperialism, constantly betrays in its articles the plans of the Japanese militarists. This is due mostly to the method of issuing the most childish lies and insinuations against their enemies. For instance, the Japanese plan to support Chang Tso-lin was thus revealed when the world was absolutely ignorant about the intentions of militaristic Japan in that respect.

The design of the new gigantic line of national defense carefully planned and kept in secrecy by the Japanese General Staff became known universally in the same way the real intentions of militaristic Japan in Russian Far East and China were thus revealed, thanks to the illiterate Japanese propagandists, who opposed the truth by means of their only weapon, falsehood.

THE WEATHER NOW

Is Dangerous for Your Children. Baby's Own Tablets Safeguard Little Ones Against The Season's Maladies.

Sudden changes of temperature, damp heat, the chill which follows hot close days, all these things make Spring and Summer dangerous periods for children.

Your little one gets hot at play, then sits down and takes a chill; or kicks off the bed-covering at night and is attacked by colic; parents do not need to be told how tragic may be the consequences. It is because they are just the right remedy at such fateful times, gentle in action yet prompt in effect, that Baby's Own Tablets should always be kept ready in the home. Innumerable little lives have already been saved by their immediate use.

Guaranteed absolutely harmless to even the youngest infant, Baby's Own Tablets contain not an atom of "sleepy stuff" or other injurious drug, and are easily administered, being reducible to a powder in a moment and pleasant in taste. They dispel colic and constipation, reduce fever, check diarrhoea, allay teething pains, cure indigestion, expel worms, quiet the nerves and bring health-giving sleep in a natural way.

Druggists sell them, also post free 60 cents per vial, from Dr. William's Medicine Co., 96 Szechuen Road, Shanghai.

"Quality Sells, because it Tells"

Yes, there is no doubt about that, and we have recognised it from the first, making "quality" our principal aim. Nothing will do us but the best, irrespective of expense. No amount of advertising, pushing, etc., will help us, if the quality of our products is not of the best, it would simply mean so much money wasted. And in nothing is "quality more telling with the public than with the articles they consume, such as Aerated beverages. Our reward has been the enormously increased demand for our

Great And Little Centers Of Gravity

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS,
Eminent Astronomer and Authority on Subjects of Scientific Interest.

"Is there such a thing as the center of gravity? If so what is it that is known by that name? Have had a lengthy discussion on the subject.—D. P."

Every tree knows in what direction the center of gravity lies, if it doesn't know what it is. It is the law of the tree's life to stand as straight as it can over the center of gravity, and to grow away from and not toward it. But this is the center of gravity in what is usually its widest sense, namely, the center or focus, of the earth's attraction of gravitation. If you will go somewhere where trees are growing on a steep hillside they will show you the direction of this great center and what it means as surely as can a plumb-line.

They have been struggling with the center of gravity and trying to line their trunks by it ever since they were the merest whipstocks. Plant a sapling on a hillside with its stalk at right angles to the surface slope and see how quickly it will reveal its natural repugnance to the center of gravity by turning its head upward toward the zenith and doing all its growing in that direction. It only puts out roots to get a stiffer brace. Tall grain, like wheat, behaves in the same way. It grows straight away from the center of gravity.

"Of course," you say, "but there is no mystery about that; it is their nature; the trees and the grain have to stand up straight or else they would fall down."

Exactly so, but one may wonder that they go to such trouble, with so much effort, when it would be far easier to spread over the ground. Surely it is their "nature," but nature in this sense is the puzzle of science. All plants do not behave in that manner, though they all feel the influence of gravity. Apparently the trees grow upward in order to get better air.

Who, or what, told them that by growing against gravity they would get better air? As far as science offers any answer at all to that question it is simply to the effect that the thing began by chance or accident and was perpetuated and developed by the influence of environment acting through "natural selection," which always seizes the main chance.

It is hard, however, not to believe that the reign of law reaches infinitely farther back, crowding out chance entirely, and not troubling too much about selection. One likes to think that the whole thing was governed by intelligence from the beginning. That, however, does not exclude an evolutionary plan.

Did you ever think how fortunate we ought, perhaps, to consider, ourselves to be in that we do not actually live on a flat earth, as the Zionists, it is said, believe they do? The effects of gravity on a flat earth—a great level plane with no depth or thickness to speak of, like the rings of Saturn—would be very different from those that we are accustomed to on our globular planet, with its gravity focused at its center.

Without any mathematical analysis anybody can see that a tree growing on a plane like that would not be subject to the same gravitational influence as on the earth. If the earth were suddenly changed to such a figure its faithful attendant, the moon, would be sadly put out in her movements, and even the sun would hardly know how to handle the gravitational reins over his transformed offspring.

If we enlarge our horizon to include the whole solar system then we find a grander center of gravity, which is associated with the sun, but does not lie at his center or occupy any one permanent place. It is the focus of the gravitational energy of sun and planets together, and it shifts about a little as the planets in their various orbits revolve around the sun. Occasionally the balance may be so struck that for an instant the center of gravity of the system is exactly at the sun's center, but most of the time, though within the sun's interior, it is more or less displaced from the center, and when all the planets are together on one side of the sun the center of gravity lies a little outside his surface.

Then, lately astronomers have begun to speculate a little about the situation of an infinitely greater center of gravity—that of the whole stellar universe. But this, though a fascinating, is as yet an uncertain subject. When Summer comes, with its tepid night air and its somnolent stars, you may look at the vasty glimmering above the southern horizon around the constellation Sagittarius, which is, with some show of reason, regarded as indicating the location of that mightiest of centers.

In a petty terrestrial sense the term "center of gravity" is applied to describe the point in any body at which its weight, or if the attraction of the earth is excluded, its mass, is concentrated. A body if it can be supported at that point is in complete equilibrium. We also speak of the center of gravity between two bodies, which is the point at which, if they are attached at the opposite ends of a rigid bar, a fulcrum will support them horizontally balanced.

Soviet Well Pleased With Results At Genoa

(Rosta News Agency)

Peking, June 5.—The representative of the Rosta News Agency called on Mr. V. D. Vilensky, a member of the Soviet Diplomatic Delegation to China and questioned him regarding the outcome of the Genoa Conference. In connection with the ways in which the decisions reached by the conference may be considered, Mr. Vilensky said:

"Genoa has given Soviet Russia a great step forward in the struggle for recognition. Those who remember the history of the last five years know all the steps of that grand contest: Revolution and the triumph in victory: armed defence of all the conquest of the Revolution, and finally the diplomatic struggle for recognition of its fruits. If on the field of battle the Russian Red army defeated the capitalist world by its ability to outmaneuver the enemy, so, in Genoa the diplomacy of the Soviet Russia demonstrated the same qualities.

"It would be impossible to find any people more skeptical about Genoa than ourselves. It was clear to us that our enemies would not yield their stand without a battle, but we were strongly convinced that the Genoa Conference would be held. Now we can say with assurance that the first battle has been won by us.

"Soviet Russia overthrew its enemies. She forced them to retreat in disorder by demoralising them. As the result there is disorganisation among the formerly great Entente.

"In fine, as a result, of Genoa, Soviet Russia received the Russo-German Agreement, temporary armistice and semi-recognition.

"That is not much, but it is more than Genoa gave to the enemies of Soviet Russia. The situation which is created for Soviet Russia after Genoa can be characterised as follows: Soviet Russia is left to itself; temporary guarantees against any armed interference with her are promised. As a matter of fact, that is exactly what we wanted long ago because it was clearly understood by us that we could count on only our own powers and we wanted only to be left in peace for the present, because we were certain that tomorrow we would get recognition."

"What are the effects of the Genoa Conference on the Far East?"

"Genoa strengthened the alliance of the two most aggressive and militaristic states, France and Japan. If Barthou shines by implacability towards Russia, so Ishii, the chief of the Japanese delegation, attempts to imitate his ally and rushes to get freedom of action for Japan in the Far East.

"For us who are living here in the Orient the position of the Japanese delegation in Genoa is clear. We see how Japan feverishly strives to hold her position in the seized territories. The action of the Japanese in Saghalien, Kamchatka and the Maritime Province speaks for itself.

"But we think that Japan is short-sighted in her policy. She is coming, by long strides, to her complete isolation. The alliance with France is an untrustworthy mirage. We think that Japan has gone a way which will tomorrow find her alone. How this will profit Japan should be pondered by the Japanese people.

"Genoa showed the similarity of the interests of Soviet Russia and the Far Eastern Republic in the Orient. By agreeing to the correction proposed by Mr. Chicherin it connected formally the Far Eastern problem with European affairs."

In conclusion V. D. Vilensky said: "For us Genoa is a first experience with peaceful attempts to solve the question of peace between the old imperialistic world and Soviet Russia. That experience strengthens our peaceful hopes and intentions. Genoa gave to Soviet Russia half recognition, after which will follow official recognition."

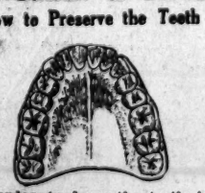
KINGMAN & BROS.
How to Preserve the Teeth



In order to keep the teeth in a good condition scientific precaution must be taken. Through negligence, decay and numerous other affections such as tooth-ache, dental periostitis, esteo-periostitis, necrosis of the jaw, etc., may arise. During the process of ingestion, there are settled on the teeth some deposits of mineral and organic matters, called tartar, which possesses a morbid power of pressing the gum. As an inevitable result of the presence of this tartar, the teeth will become elongated and movable and will, by degrees, absorb away the enamel, leading ultimately to the decay and degeneration of the teeth. The tartar is so hard and resistant to the process of brushing that it cannot be scraped off except with dental instruments specially devised for that purpose.

Dr. KINGMAN offers to the public his service for preserving their teeth at an annual subscription Fee of $10.00 per head to be paid in advance.

The work to be done by Dr. KINGMAN to the subscribers consist in:—
(1) Cleaning of the teeth quarterly.
(2) Filling with gold platinum alloy only, when the teeth present holes.
(3) Inspecting the teeth at any time at the desire of the subscribers.

AGE is no indication of eye condition. Many aged people do not need to wear glasses, whereas many children need them at an early age.

Sometimes children, otherwise bright and intelligent, are backward in school on account of defective eyesight which is entirely unsuspected.

Let us test the eyes of your children. Be sure that you know whether or not their eyes are all right.

German Trial May Bare Many Plots

(Reuter's Service)

Berlin, June 7.—A trial which is expected to produce startling revelations concerning secret monarchist organisations in Germany, opened at Offenburg today, when ex-Naval Commander von Killinger was charged with complicity in the murder of the former Finance Minister, Herr Erzberger, who signed the Armistice on behalf of Germany.

The accused participated in the Kapp rising, as a member of the notorious Ehrahardt brigade, and was among the German naval officers at Scapa Flow.

It is expected that the trial will throw light on other political murders since the Armistice. The witnesses number nearly 100.

The Judge at the outset of the proceedings warned the jury not to be influenced by political considerations. The Court was strongly guarded as a consequence of rumors that there would be an attempt at the liberation of the prisoner, who was a leading member of a powerful secret organisation.

Monsoon In India, Rains Disappointing

(Reuter's Service)

Simla, June 7.—The monsoon has arrived. The first rains were weak and short.

Bombay, June 7.—The monsoon has not yet actually burst; but there has been considerable rain in various parts of India during the past week, particularly in Lower Burma, Assam and Malabar, and conditions remain unsettled. There have also been heavy downpours in Bombay, but during the last few days fine weather prevailed.
